

COAL DEALER DENIES CHARGE OF EXTORTION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—(Press) A denial of certain statements recently coming from the United States senate committee on reconstruction regarding the bituminous coal industry has been made by president D. B. Wentz of the National Coal association.

A wholly wrong impression had been made to the public through these statements. Mr. Wentz asserted, adding that the senate committee had been made that the entire industry had been practicing gross extortion on the American public.

"The senate committee asserts," he said, "that wrong doing has been admitted by D. B. Wentz, representing the National Coal association; by congressman C. E. Atchison of the interstate commerce commission, and Daniel Willard, representing the railroads."

No such admission has been made by me, nor do I understand that any such admission has been made by either of the others.

"So to put the matter straight on the record, I wish to deny emphatically that there was any wrong doing in any action taken by representatives of the National Coal association, of the interstate commerce commission, or of the American railroads."

40 PYTHIANS IN EL PASO TO GET DEGREES

A class of 40 past chancellors from all parts of west Texas and New Mexico are in El Paso to receive Knights of Pythias grand lodge degrees at the local Knights of Pythias hall.

Entertainment of the visitors will begin tonight, when nearly 500 Pythians are to be guests at a banquet in the lodge hall.

Charles Braxington, grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of Texas, is in El Paso and will confer the degrees. He is to be a guest of honor and speaker at the banquet tonight.

Only past chancellors of various local lodges are eligible to membership in the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias, and the 40 candidates here represent the leading figures of the order in Texas and adjoining states.

Mr. Braxington warmly commended the activity of the local lodge, describing it as the finest Pythian organization in Texas.

LAREDO WOMAN ENDS HER LIFE; LOVE IS BLAMED

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 10.—(Punching) A Mexican dagger into her heart while talking to her former fiancé, Miss Theodora Saunders, 26 years old, of Laredo, Texas, ended her life on the mezzanine floor of a downtown hotel last night.

El H. Garza, 31, of Chicago, declared that an engagement between the two recently had been broken off. The young woman left no explanation of her act. She was for several years a teacher in the Laredo city schools.

Some months ago Miss Saunders sued a Laredo business man for breach of promise and after termination of suit, made a trip to Mexico City and later to Los Angeles.

A religious pantomime will be the feature of the weekly meeting of the Square club of the Y. W. C. A. at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon at the central branch building.

Dr. David H. Lawrence, until recently chief of the surgical service at the Home Hospital, Fort Bliss, has opened offices at 211-13 Main building for the treatment of surgical diseases only. Telephone 721—Adv.

Patter And Chatter

By K. E. KINER.
The Girl He Left Behind.

THE girl he left behind him sighed as only maidens may; He saw tears glisten in her eyes, and kissed them all away; She felt him know that she would care, and joy was in his breast; For when success was waiting where the sun sinks in the west; In whisper, tremulous and sad, she promised to be true; And to the ground hopes that he had come others that were new.

"The way," he said, "is long; But you have made me strong; I'll win where wealth and honors are, and bring them back to you!"

THE girl he left behind him turned, with pallid cheeks, that day; And went to all alone and wept her now-lost heart away; She felt his kiss upon her lips—the first he dared to claim; And every passing breeze, it seemed, kept whispering his name; Her fancies all went winging to the golden-tinted west; A sorrow that was deep and new, found lodgment in her breast; That night she watched the sun Go down, and prayed for one Whose former plea she carelessly had answered with a jest.

THE girl he left behind him learned to keep her tears away; And later learned to hear the words another had to say; For her the glorious, golden west lost all romantic charms; She found it comforting to rest within another's arms; And he that ventured bravely where the world was rich and new Found one who taught him gladness there and made his dreams come true.

The girl he left behind Came often to his mind; "Alan," he thought, "how long and the years must seem to you!"

Face Washing Hints

By EDNA KENT FORBES

IT BECAME a simple matter as washing the face, it would not seem that anyone could do it wrong. But the proverb says, you know, that there is a right way and a wrong way to do everything, and this applies to washing the face as well as to other things.

The first, and perhaps the most important thing, is to choose the proper soap. A strong soap will dry the skin, make it harsh and coarse and induce early wrinkles. An oil soap is usually the best by its very nature, since it takes less out of the skin, yet at the same time it cleanses thoroughly. I generally advise a castile, but this is not necessary.

The next thing to consider is the type of complexion you have, and its present trouble. Medicated soaps are good for skin eruptions. The black-head powder in fact for this trouble, but should be used with a cold cream, since it is very drying. Ice cubes are good for all skins, but in most cases can only be used when cream has also been employed, since ice, like all stimulants, is drying.

The best general stimulating method of washing the face, which is also a beauty treatment, is to hold hot water cloths over the skin and the pores open, then to rub in the cold cream, and to wash this out with fairly hot water and soap. This is followed by a rinse with clear warm water, a cold rinse or an ice rub. Then you may use a little powder if you wish.

But all facial movements, either massage or with the face cloth, should be upwards and outwards—to lift the muscles around the mouth and chin, which are bound to sag in time and to make you look middle-aged.

C. D. E.—You are about 18 pounds overweight. Soft kid cutlers cannot cut the hair. The lemon juice is all right as a mild bleach, but there is no necessity for using any of the other things that you mention.

An Interested Reader.—You can reduce the chin and throat by taking the rolling exercise. Turn the head far back between the shoulders, then roll the head first to the right, then to the left, and in each case describe a complete circle, while the head lies perfectly limp as it rolls around over the chest, shoulders and back. Repeat this several times each day. You can also help much by massaging the chin and throat with the palm of your hand. Avoid any downward strokes; they should always be rotary or upwards.

Rose.—The preparation you mention is too irritating to be allowed to dry into the skin and remain overnight. I fancy you have whiteheads, and the treatment for them is to rub them gently on the top. But be sure that you sterilize the needle. Follow this with an application of hydrogen peroxide, which will heal and cleanse the pores.

Escaped an Operation

There is nothing in the world a woman so much fears as a surgical operation. Often they are necessary, but often not; and many have been avoided by the timely use of that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If you are suffering from some dread ailment peculiar to your sex, why not profit by the experience of these two women whose letters follow?

These Two Women Saved from Operations.

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—"After the birth of my last child I had such painful spells they would unfit me entirely for my housework. I suffered for months and the doctor said that my trouble was organic and I would have to have an operation. That was a awful thing to me, with a young baby and four other children, so one day I thought of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how it had helped me years before and I decided to try it again. I took five bottles of Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and since then I have been a well woman, able to take care of my house and family without any trouble or a day's pain. I am ready and thankful to swear by your medicine any time. I am forty-four years old and have not had a day's illness of any kind for three years."—Mrs. H. KOSKIO, 617 Ellis Blvd., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Sandusky, Ohio.—"After the birth of my baby I had organic trouble. My doctor said it was caused by too heavy lifting and I would have to have an operation. I would not consent to an operation and let it go for over a year, having my sister do my work for me as I was not able to walk. One day my aunt came to see me and told me about your medicine. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and they have cured me. Now I do my own housework, washing and ironing and sewing for my family and also do sewing for other people. I still take a bottle of Vegetable Compound every spring for a tonic. I recommend your medicine to others who have troubles similar to mine and you can use my letter if you wish."—Mrs. PAUL PAPERSTON, 1325 Stone St., Sandusky, Ohio.

Scour the COFFEE Pot

IN thousands of American homes the COFFEE pot is never properly cleaned. Even the lifeless grounds from the breakfast COFFEE are sometimes left in the pot and re-steeped for dinner or supper with the addition of a small quantity of fresh COFFEE.

It is not enough to give the pot a hurried rinse and set it away to dry. Scour it even more carefully than other cooking utensils.

The only way to be sure of perfect COFFEE is to cleanse all COFFEE-making utensils thoroughly every time they are used. Boil out the COFFEE pot occasionally with soda. If you use a percolator, pay particular attention to the little tube through which the hot water rises to spray over the grounds. Scrub it with the wire-handled brush that comes for the purpose.

If you use a drip pot with a filter bag, rinse the bag clean in cool—never hot—water. Keep the bag submerged in cold water when not in use so that it will not be exposed to germs in the air. Renew filter bags frequently. (See rules for making good COFFEE.)

COFFEE

—the universal drink

- Six Rules for Making Good Coffee
- 1—Keep your coffee fresh—preserve the aroma to the last. Fruit-jars are ideal for this purpose.
  - 2—Measure proportions carefully, both coffee and water.
  - 3—When serving hot coffee, serve it hot. Never reheat.
  - 4—Use water only at full boiling-point in making drip coffee.
  - 5—Stir or settle carefully. ALL coffee is clear if properly made.
  - 6—Keep coffee-making utensils clean.

How to have a perfect manicure

CUTEX was especially prepared to remove surplus cuticle without injury. With it, you can do away with cutting. You can keep a firm, smooth cuticle and shape your nails. Cutex is absolutely harmless.

First file with a steel file until your nails are the proper length. Fashionable manicurists say that it is now considered good form to have the nail conform to the shape of the finger tips—never pointed. Gently work around each nail base, pushing back the cuticle with an orange stick wrapped with a bit of cotton and moistened with Cutex. Wipe off the dead surplus skin and wash the hands, pushing back the cuticle with a towel.

If you like snowy white nail tips apply a little Cutex Nail White underneath the nails directly from its convenient tube. Finish your manicure with Cutex Polish.

Secrets Of The Movies Revealed

Q. Why are photoplay stories based on personal experience seldom accepted by picture producers?

A. Because few individuals have experiences complex or broad enough and of the proper dramatic quality to make them the basis for a photoplay. A large number of amateurs continually attempt to photoplay their own experiences, and in 32 cases out of 100 they fail to sell their stories. Cecil B. DeMille's advice on this is as follows: "Personal experience may be woven into a story; it may furnish the starting point of a drama, but in general, any one man's experience, dramatic though it may be in spots, is insufficient for the elaboration necessary in a successful stage or screen play. A truly successful photoplay must be many sided; it must be the complex result of many experiences." This does not mean that your photoplay stories should not be true to life and human; they must be the essence of many human lives and experiences. The real life is sometimes a rather flat fiction, but it is the exceptional person whose life experiences can be made into a dramatic and convincing story. Most of us lead rather drab lives and what might be highlight to us would be mere commonplace to other people.

Q. To whom is Frank Mayo married?

A. Mrs. Frank Mayo was formerly Miss Joyce Moore.

Q. What well known screen star appeared in the role of "Trixie" in the stage version of Matherick's "Bluebird"?

A. Helen Perry.

Q. Where does Rosemary Theby live?

A. Miss Theby's home is at 1905 Wilcox Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

Q. What does the "X" in Francis X. Bushman's name stand for?

A. Francis's middle name is Xavier, pronounced as though it was spelled with a Z. He and his wife, Beverly Sarna, are now on the stage—Copyright, 1920, Thompson Feature Service.

Are moving picture plays entirely rehearsed before being photographed? Answer to this question will appear tomorrow in this department.
